

WEEKLY FISH MARKET.

Trade continues in about the same volume as last week and the market is firm in all grades with the exception of mackerel in which sales are at present governed considerably by offers. The smoked bloater trade is good and the stock in sight will hardly be enough to meet the increased demand for this popular commodity. Frozen herring are a little slow at New York but the price and number of vessels open at once. Nevertheless, the market is still firm, last fare sales to Boston being at $2.50, a distinct improvement over last season. The whole fleet, with just a few exceptions, is now on the way home with cargoes. The haddock school has struck on Georges and the vessels are beginning to bring in some fine trips.

The receipts at this port for the week ending Jan. 23 are 59,000 lbs. salt cod.

23,000 lbs. fresh cod.
10,000 lbs. halibut.
188,000 lbs. haddock.
3300 bbls. frozen herring.

DOWN WITH DOGFISH!

Halifax Municipal Council Passes Strong Resolutions.

Wants Dominion Government To Take Important Steps

In the hope of bringing about the extermination of the dogfish which threaten to injure severely the fisheries of the Nova Scotia coast, the Halifax municipal council yesterday passed resolutions asking the dominion government to take immediate steps to abate the dogfish nuisance.

It was claimed that there was a considerable loss to the fishermen during the past year as the result of the ravages of the dogfish.

PROVINCETOWN'S ICE EMBARGO

Kindly Wind Forced Big Flee Back Yesterday.

Big Haddocking Fleet Quickly Took Its Departure.

The entire Provincetown fleet of fishing vessels was forced to hoist its anchors Saturday and run into the wharves to escape being encompassed by the ice pack which was blown into that harbor from Sandwich.

The schooner Monitor groped her way in through the fog Saturday morning before the ice appeared, having on board 400 barrels of frozen herring from the Bay of Islands. She made the trip in five days, the first two of which were made under a double-reefed foresail, and through a fog so thick that those at the stern of the boat could not see the bowsprit.

The danger from the ice embargo receded yesterday, and the big ice field which had threatened the harbor retreated, and many of the imprisoned vessels got out. Many had their gear set off Wood End and tacked back and forth along the edge of the slow moving ice, anxious to learn if their trawls had been swept away.

A fleet of 27 big trawling schooners, including schs. Mary F. Curtis, Mary Fallon, Mat-takesett, Gossip, Mary G. Powers, Harmony, Jennie and Agnes, Mildred Robinson, Bertha M. Miller and others of the best Boston and Gloucester fleets, with chs. William A. Morse, Nellie C. Adams, Philomena Manta, Philip Manta, Emilia Enos, Sea Fox, I. J. Merritt, Jr., Florida and other craft, had sought haven during the rough weather and fog, many of them having made night sets before making for harbor, the crews believing that they had no cause for fear of an ice inroad, but with the coming of daylight and clearing weather they found themselves barred in effectually, the only saving condition being the faint west wind which availed to push the ice back a few fathoms only per hour.

Most of the fleet under sail waited until the recession of the flee from Long Point end was complete, then trimmed aft their sheets and followed the leaders to the southwest, and at noon yesterday many of the fleet that had remained at anchor earlier were away.

The ice covered a large portion of the harbor during the night, but did no damage to the local fleet, nearly every boat of which had been hauled into the pier safely, while the large schooners foccupied that end of the harbor farthest from the advancing flee.

Herring Notes

A dispatch from Bay of Island, N. F., on Saturday reports no gulf ice there yet. While not sure, the gentleman who sent the message said that sch. Talisman was supposed to have sailed last Wednesday.

Sch. Monitor arrived at Provincetown Saturday from Bay of Bay of Islands, N. F., with 400 barrels of frozen herring.
